SOTSI Website Editing Guide

The simple picture guide to editing seatofthesoul.com

Version 2.1 · 2026-08-18 · prepared by 22D Marketing

Change a text

the easiest edit — no Designer needed

replace any picture on any page

Edit a book or course

the CMS — the site's filing room

Publish a blog post

in the 22D board, not in Webflow

The five rules

Follow these and you cannot go badly wrong.

The Designer is not the live site

Videos, the blog, episodes, search and animations only run on the PUBLISHED site. In the Designer those areas look empty, grey or stacked — nothing is broken. Always judge on the live site.

Follow the labels

Everything is labelled for you: GREEN  = yours to edit · AMBER  = automatic, don't fight it · RED  = never touch. No label or unsure? Ask 22D first.

3Blog posts live in the 22D board

Write and publish posts in the board. Editing a post inside Webflow gets overwritten by the next sync. And never change the slug (the last part of a URL) of anything published.

4Publish, then check the live page

No change is visible until you click the blue Publish button (top right). After publishing, open the live page in a normal tab and refresh.

5Every mistake is fixable

Cmd+Z (Mac) / Ctrl+Z (Windows) undoes your steps. Bigger accident? Site backups restore everything. Worst case: ask 22D — nothing is ever truly lost.

Two doors into the site

There are two ways into the site. Start with Door 1 — it is enough for most edits.

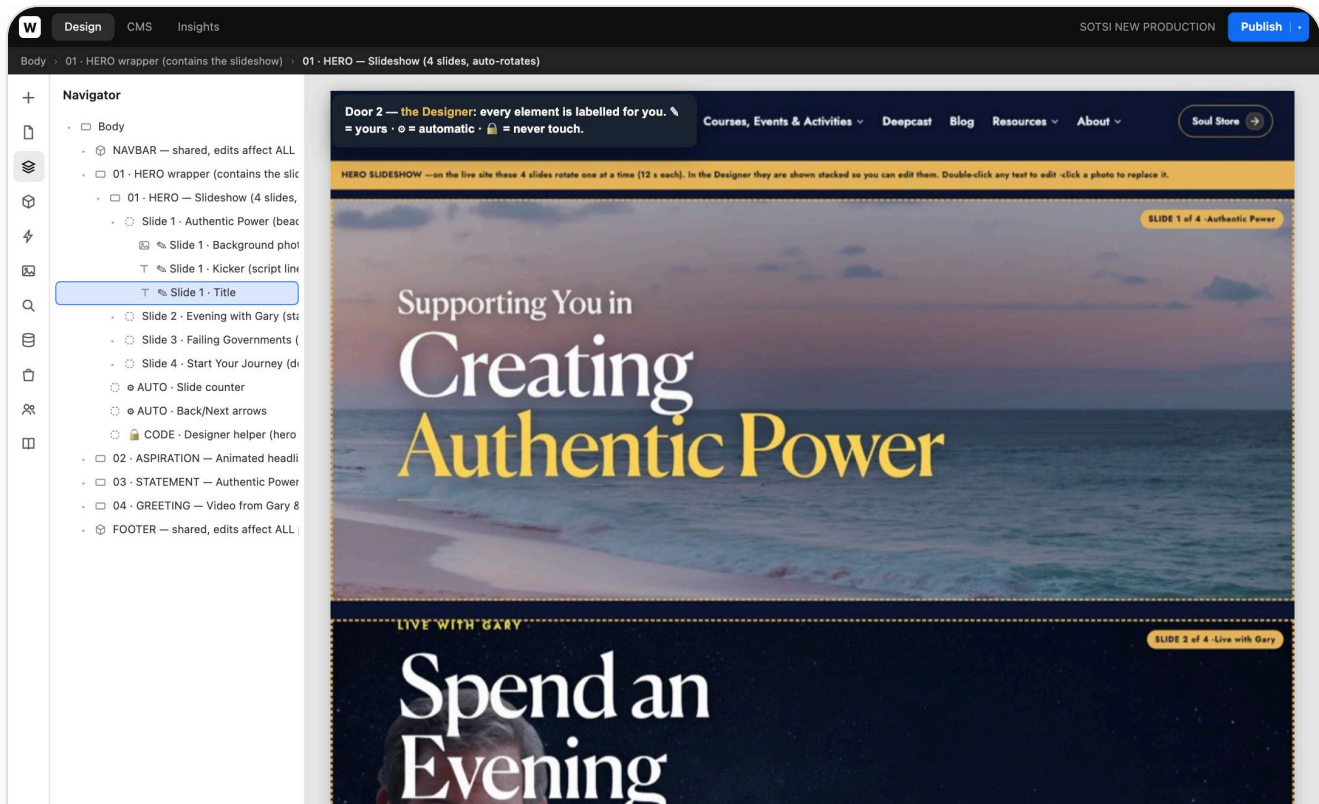

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL `proposal-03.webflow.io/get-started?update`. The page is titled "Editing — SOTSI NEW PRODUCTION" and features a "Publish" button. The main content area has a dark background with a sunset over water. The text reads: "There is an epic unprecedented transformation to human consciousness happening at this time — unlike any other in our history — and we are delighted to be a part of this awakening with you." A tooltip in the top right corner states: "Door 1 — Edit mode: the live page becomes editable. Text, photos and links only. You cannot break the layout from here." Below the main text, there is a green button labeled "EASY — START HERE".

Door 1 • Edit mode

Add ?update to the end of any page address. The page looks exactly like the live site and you can only touch content — text, photos, links. You cannot break the layout from here.

Start with this door →

MORE POWER — LABELS GUIDE YOU

Door 2 • The Designer

Start with this door →

Why the Designer looks different from the live site

Videos, the blog directory, search and animations only run on the published site. The editing views show labels and placeholders instead — nothing is broken. (The Preview eye behaves the same way.)

Home hero — why it looks “broken” (it isn’t)

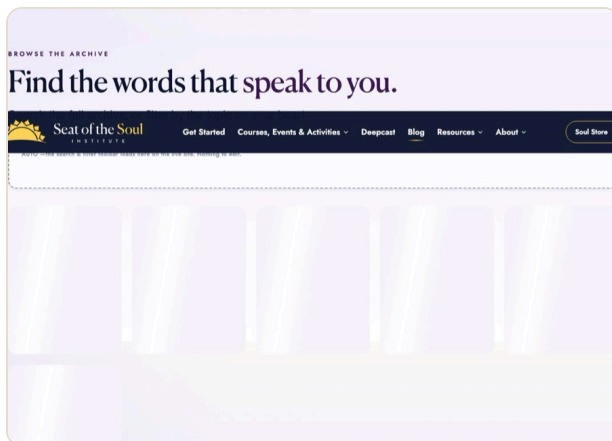

In the Designer

On the live site

Designer shows the 4 slides STACKED with orange labels so you can edit each one. On the live site they rotate one at a time, every 12 seconds.

Blog page — why it looks “broken” (it isn’t)

In the Designer

On the live site

Designer shows dashed “AUTO” boxes where the post directory loads. On the live site those boxes are the full searchable archive.

The five lessons

Each lesson opens as a full-screen slideshow: one picture, one action, big Back / Next buttons and a progress bar so you always know where you are.

Press ► Start this lesson (or any numbered picture to jump to that step).
Prefer to scroll? Every lesson also has “Show all steps on this page”.

Change a text and publish it

EDIT MODE

The complete round trip: open a page, change one sentence, publish, and see it live. Once you can do this, you can edit most of the site.

Step 1

Open the page you want to change in your normal browser. In this example: the Get Started page.

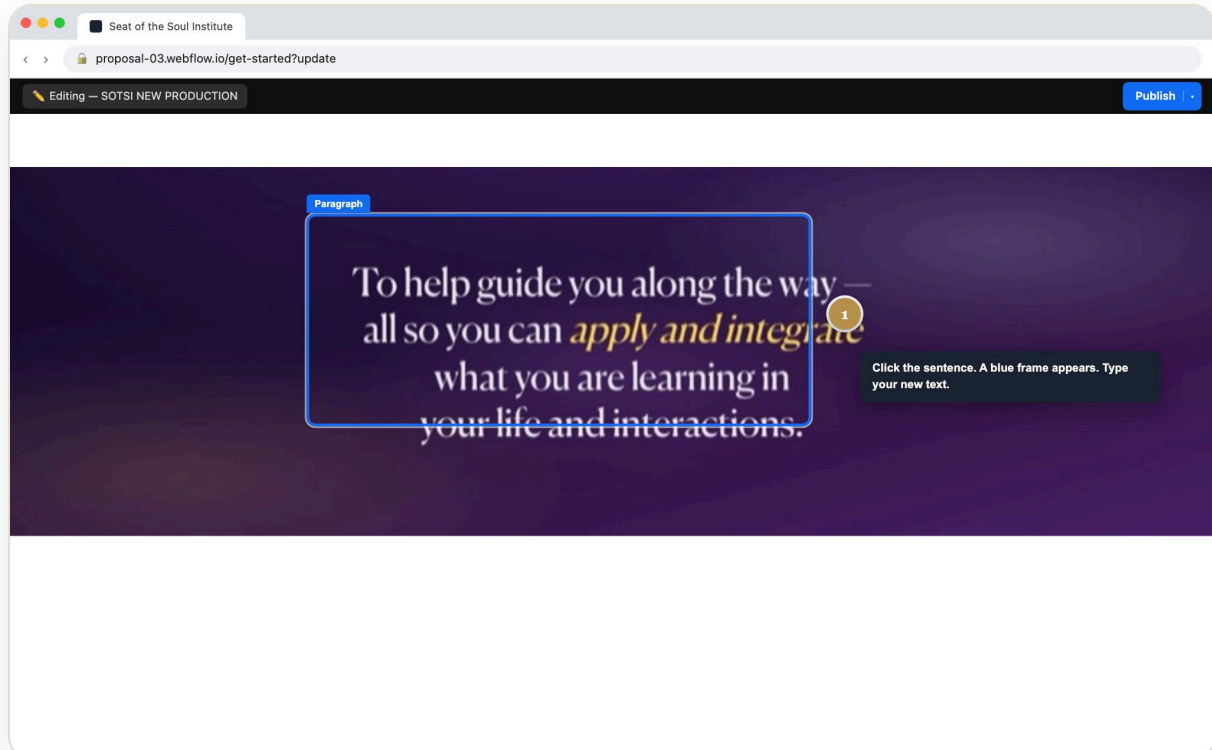

Step 2 Click the address bar and type ?update at the very end of the address. Press Enter.

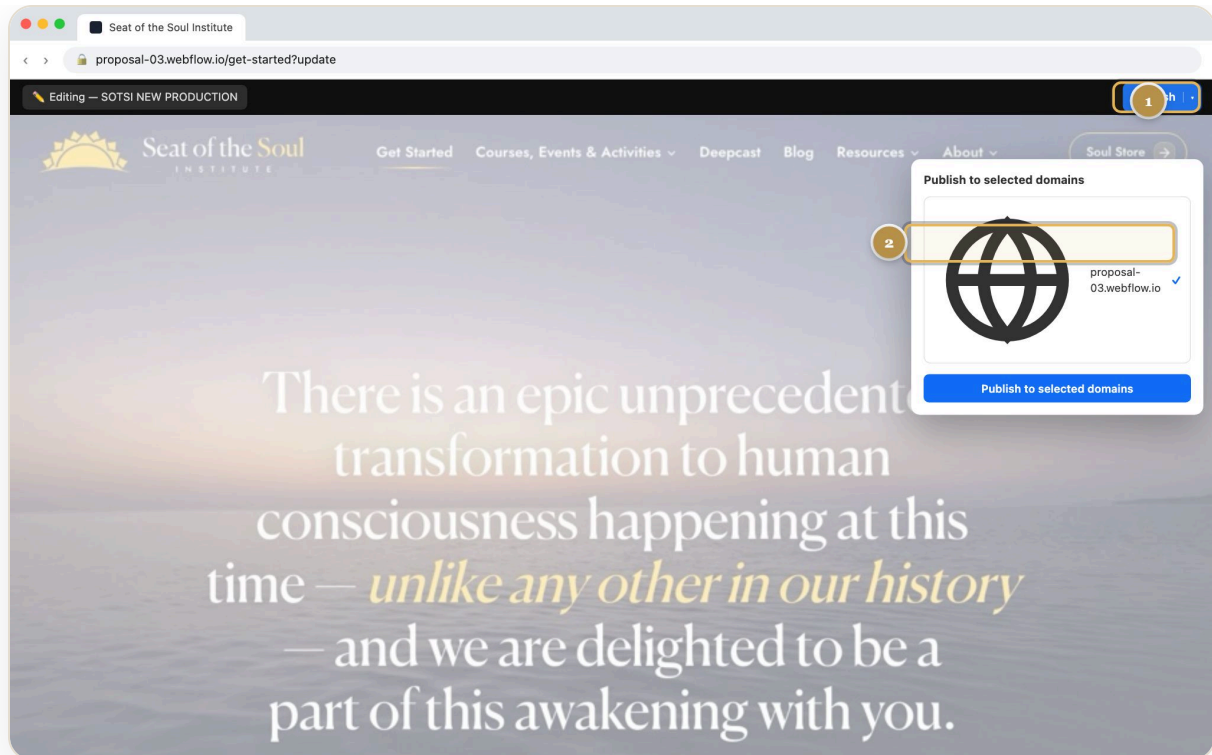

Step 3 Sign in with your Webflow email and password. Webflow remembers you, so this only appears now and then.

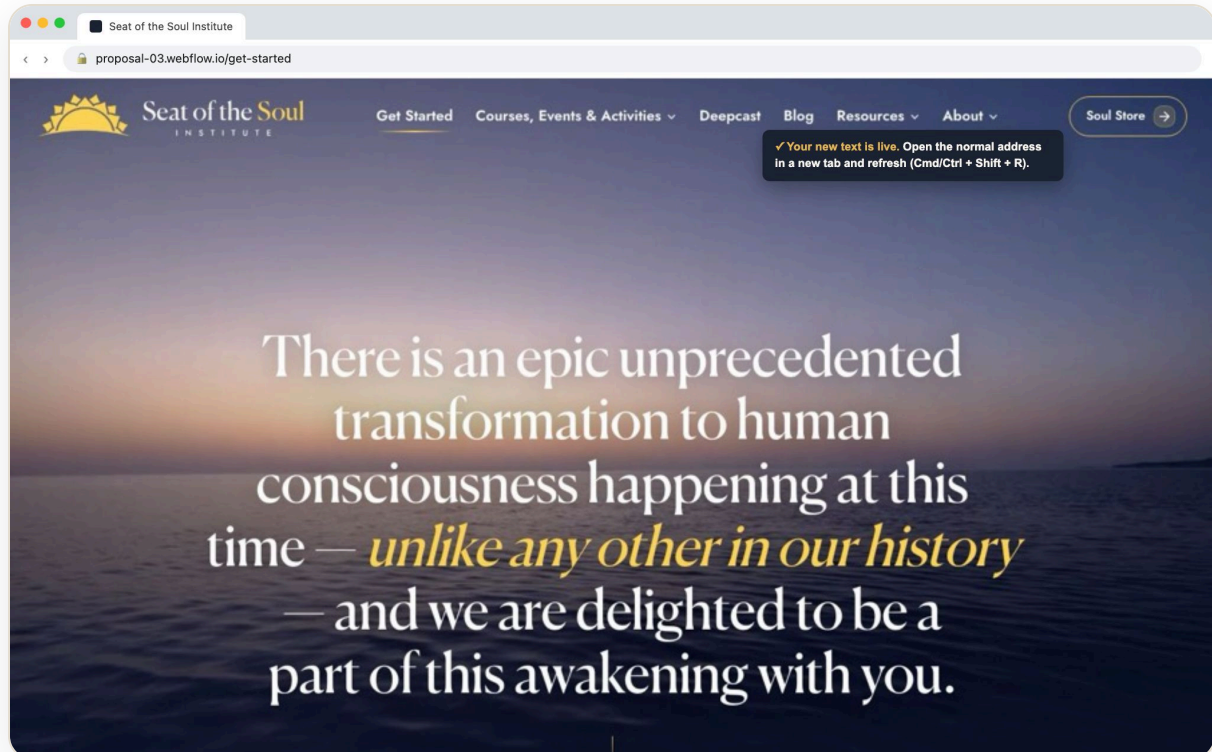

Step 4 The same page opens in Edit mode. It looks identical — but now the content can be clicked.

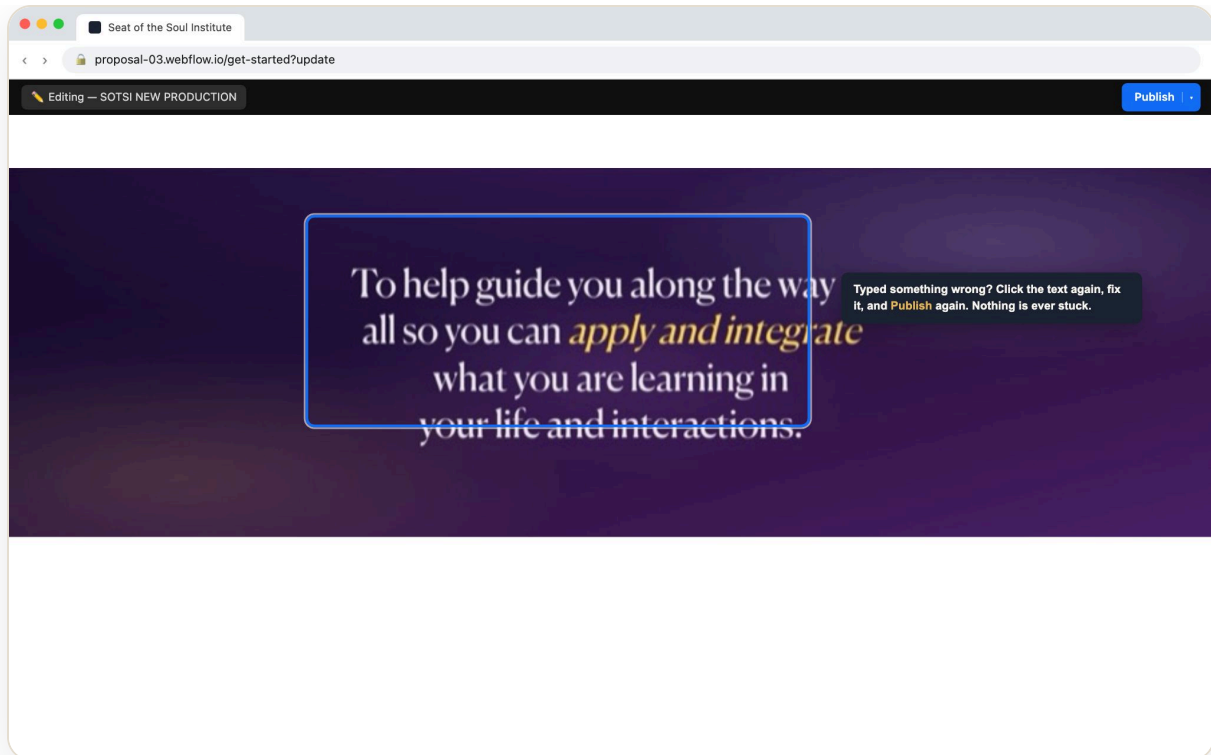

Step 5 Click the sentence you want to change. A blue frame appears around it. Type your new text.

Step 6 Click the blue Publish button in the top-right corner, then confirm. This sends your change to the live site.

Step 7 Open the normal page address in a new tab and refresh. Your new text is live. That's the whole job.

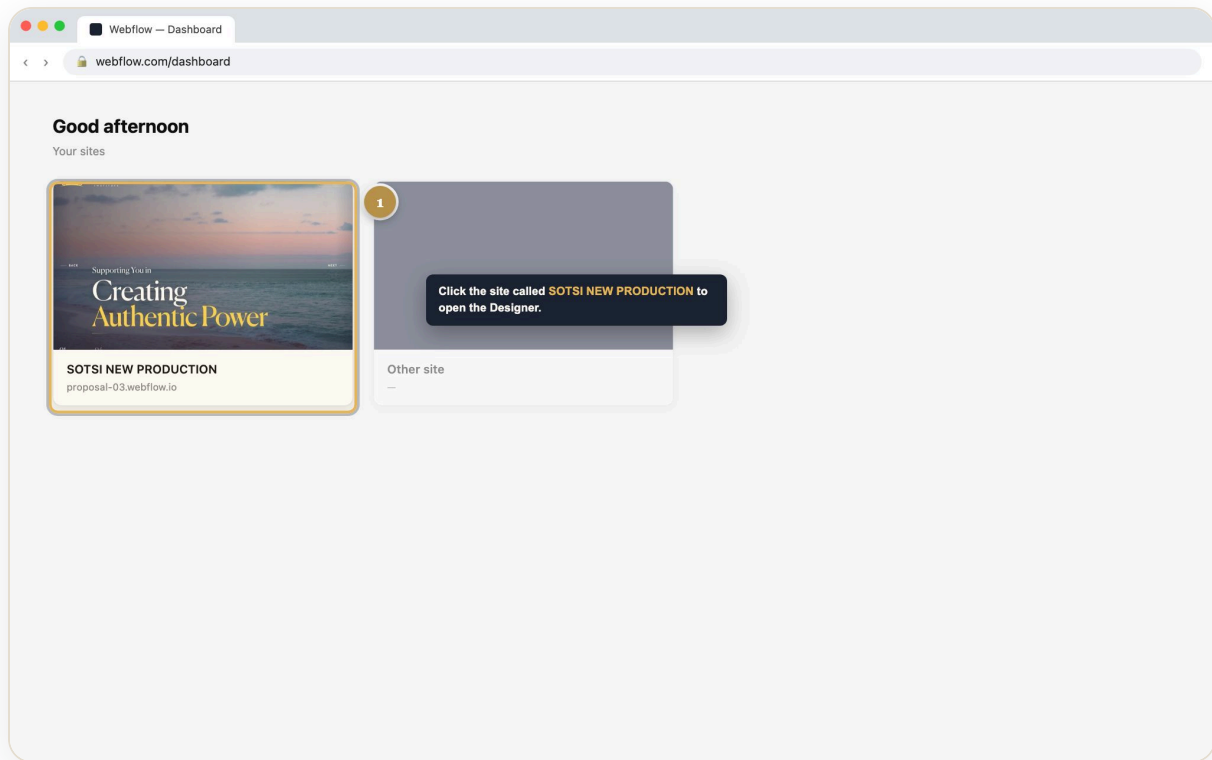

Step 8 Typed something wrong? Go back, click the text, fix it, Publish again. Nothing is ever stuck.

💡 Edit mode can't move sections or break layouts — it is the safe door.

Replace any picture on any page from the Designer, in eight clicks.

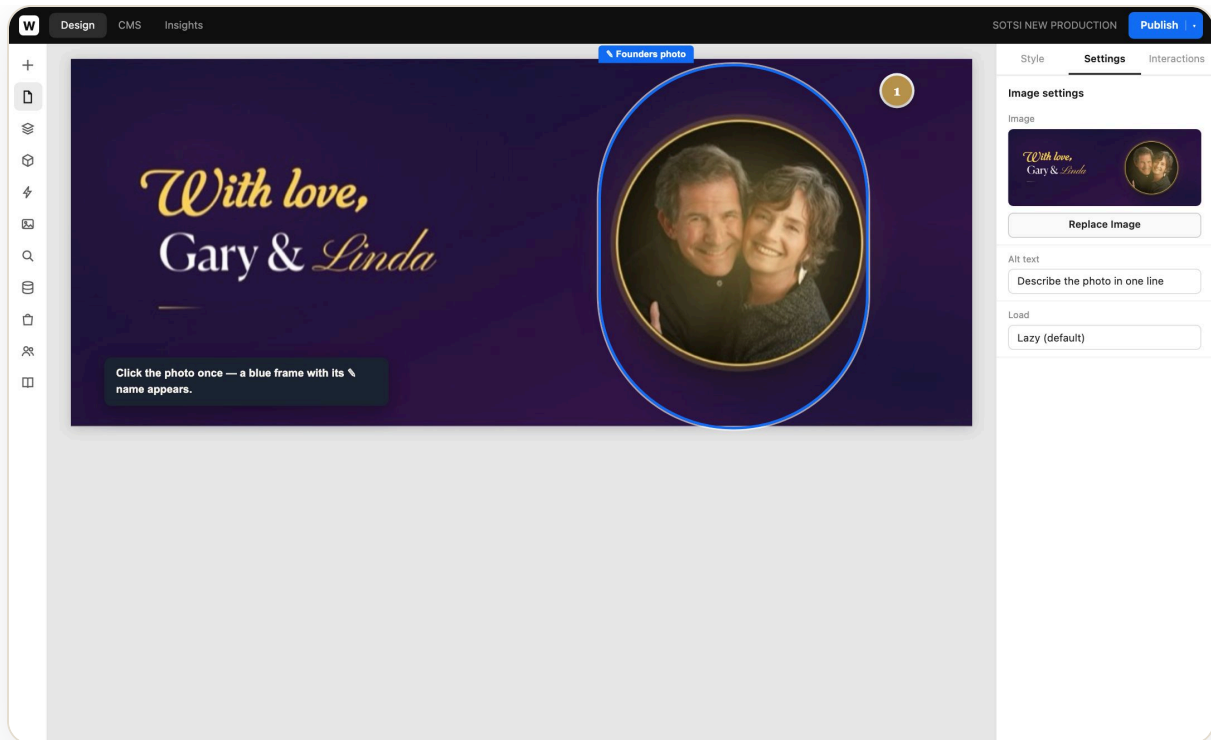

Step 1 Open webflow.com, sign in, and click the site called SOTSI NEW PRODUCTION.

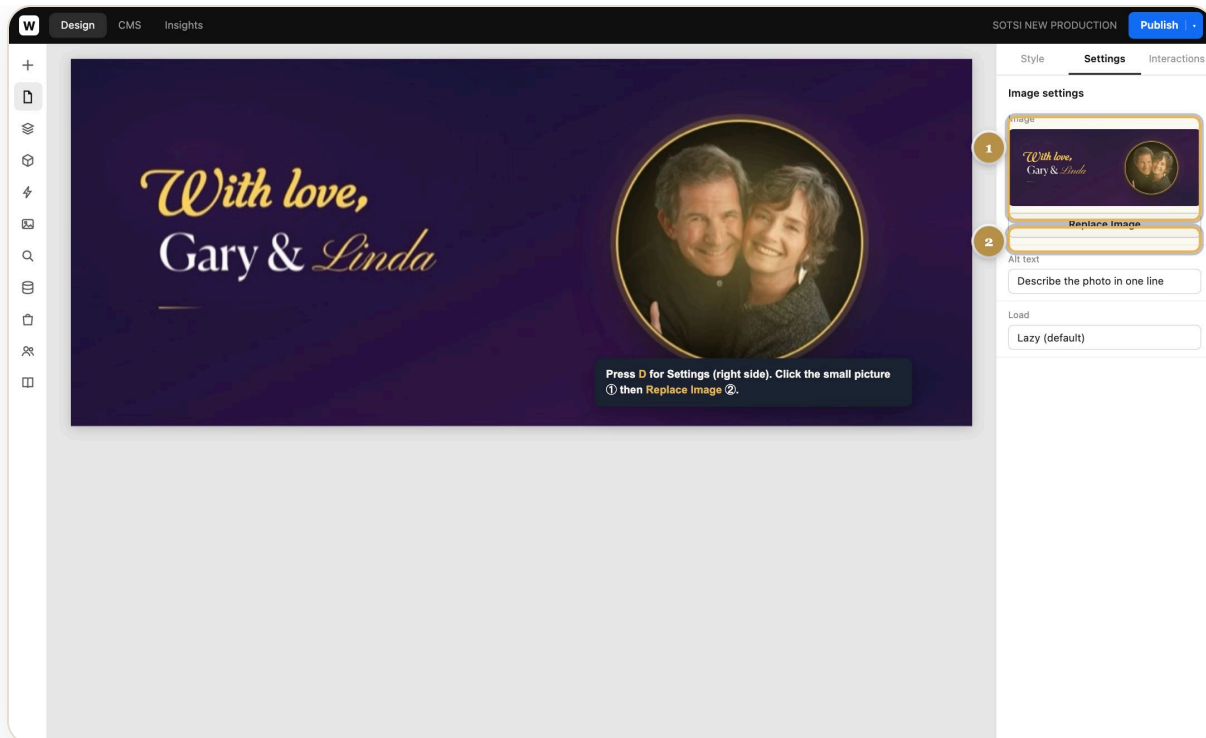

Step 2 You are in the Designer. Click the Pages icon near the top of the left edge.

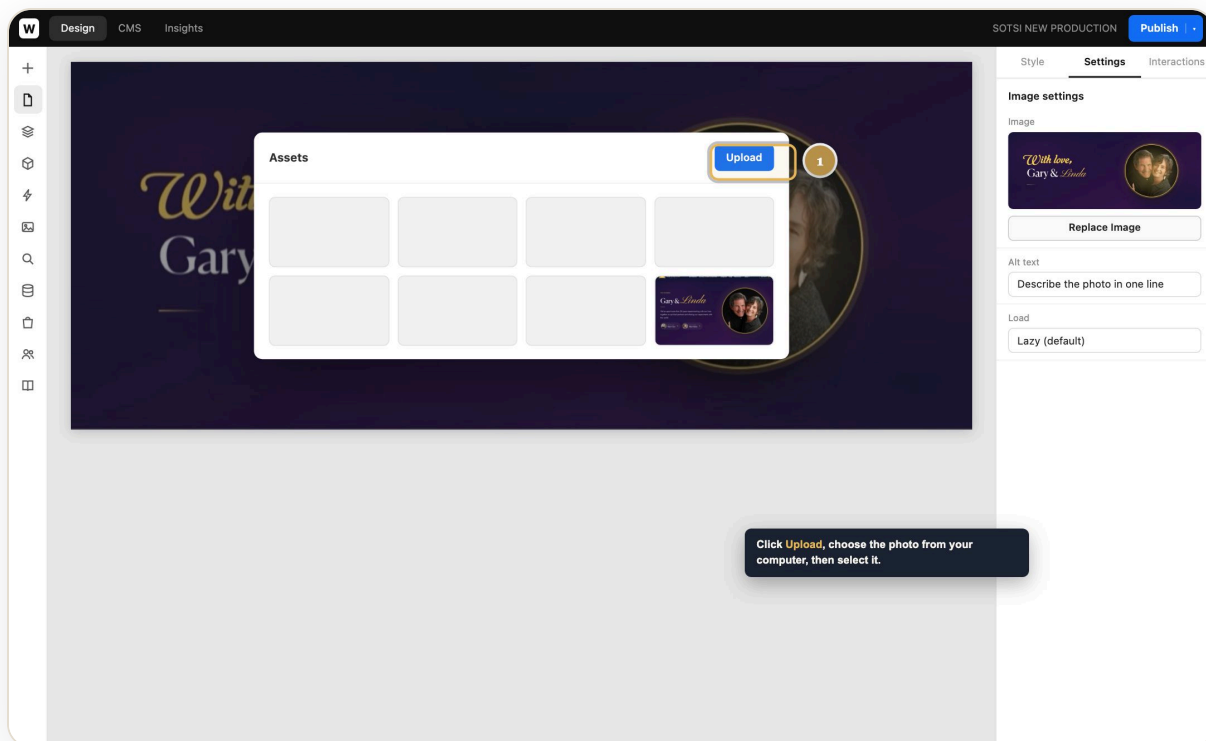

Step 3 Click the page where the photo lives — the list uses plain names, like a table of contents.

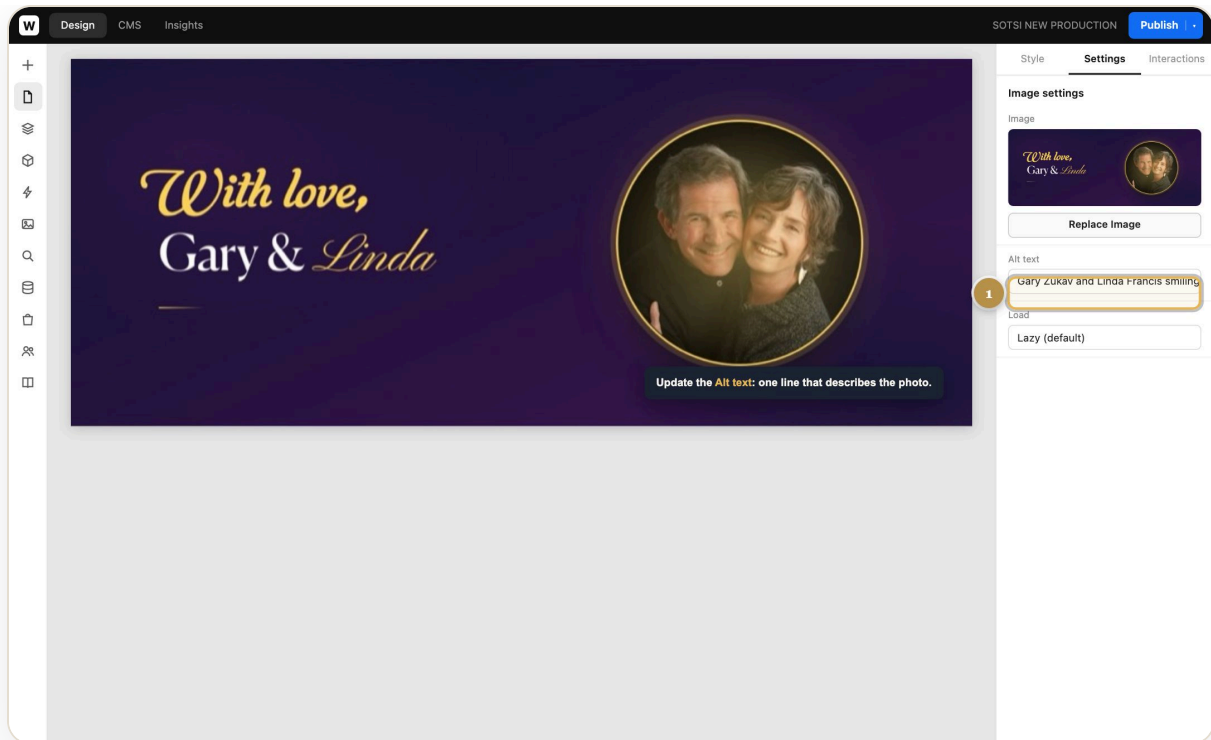

Step 4 Scroll the middle area (the canvas) and click the photo once. A blue frame appears with its name — photos you may change are labelled .

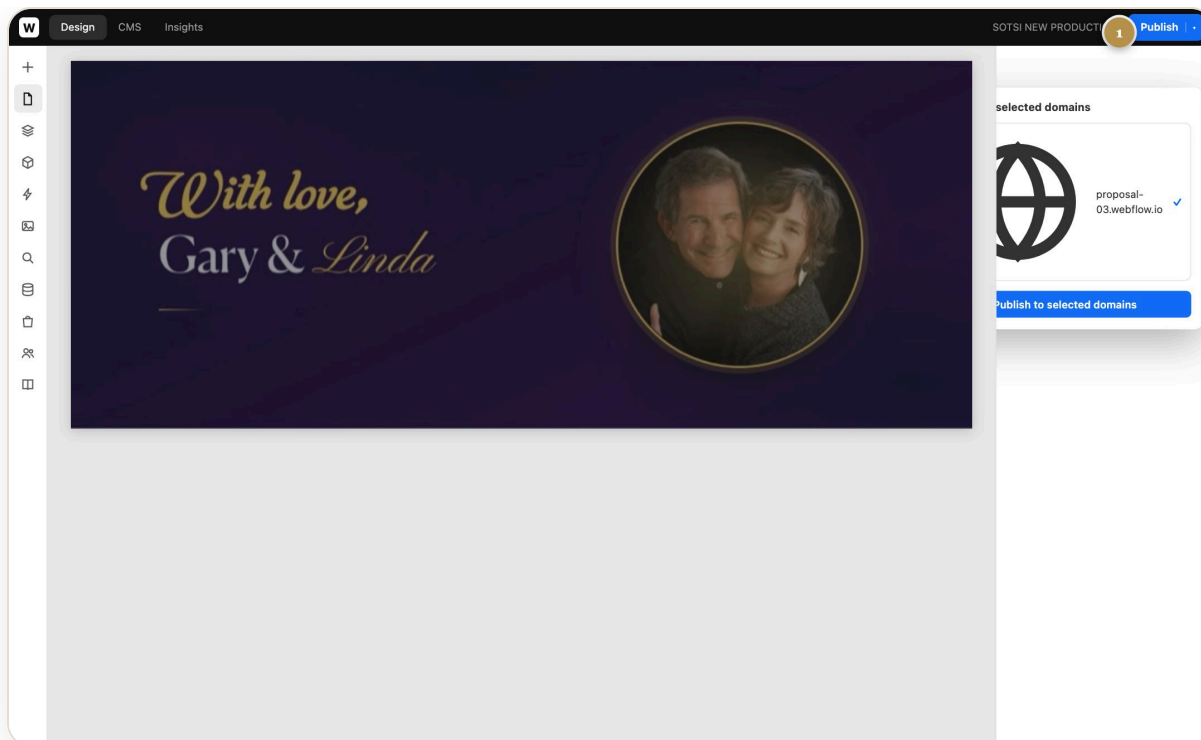

Step 5 Press the letter D to open the Settings panel on the right. Click the small picture, then Replace Image.

Step 6 Click Upload, choose the photo from your computer, and select it. Use a photo with a similar shape (wide stays wide).

Step 7 In the same panel, update the Alt text: one line that describes the photo. Google and screen readers use it.

Step 8 Publish (top right) and check the live page.

💡 The Home hero photos are special — each slide has phone and tablet crops. Change the text yourself; for hero photos, send the picture to 22D.

The CMS — edit or add a book or course

DESIGNER

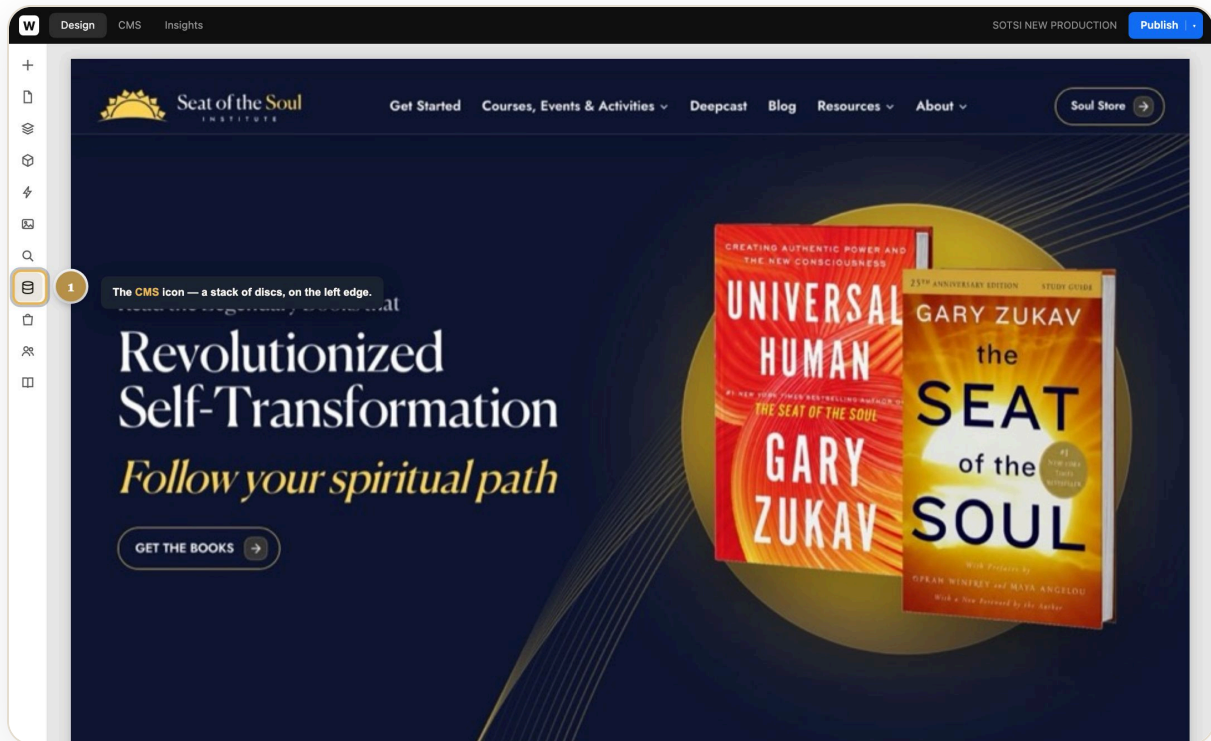

The CMS is the site's filing room: a cabinet (Collection) full of cards (Items). The site lays every card out for you — you only fill in the card.

The CMS in one picture

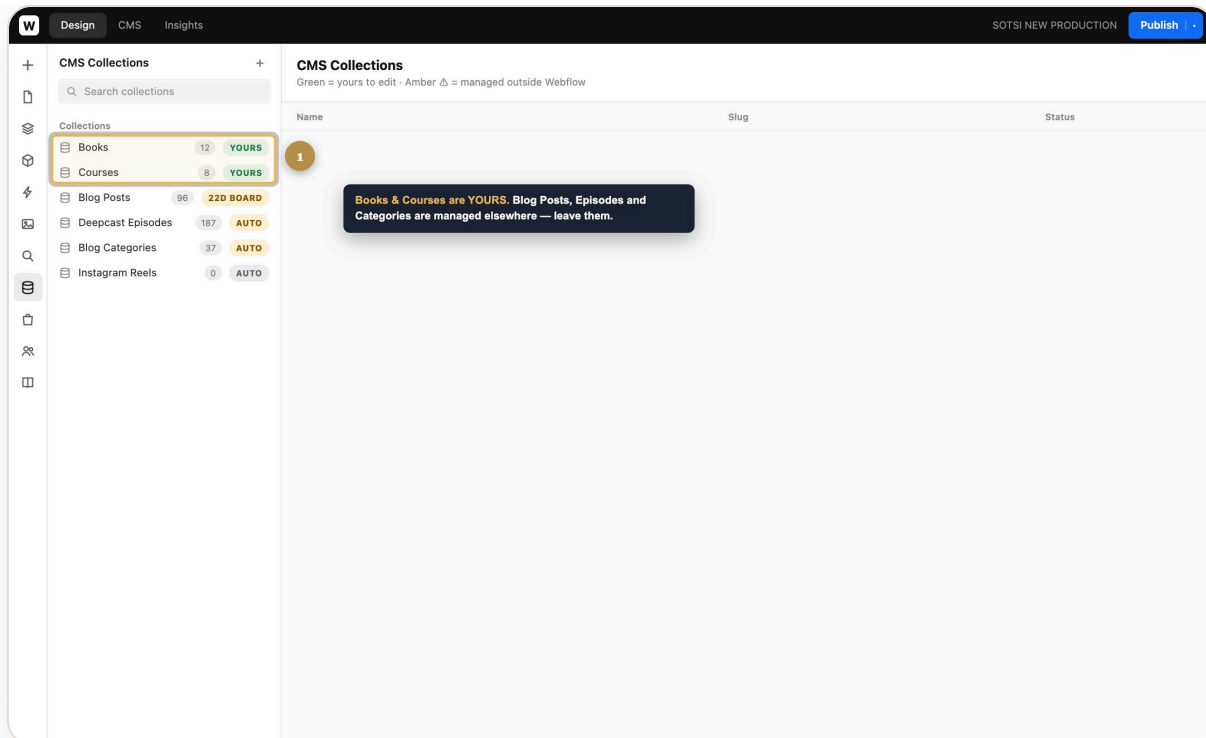

Add or edit a card — the shelf updates on its own. You never touch the layout.

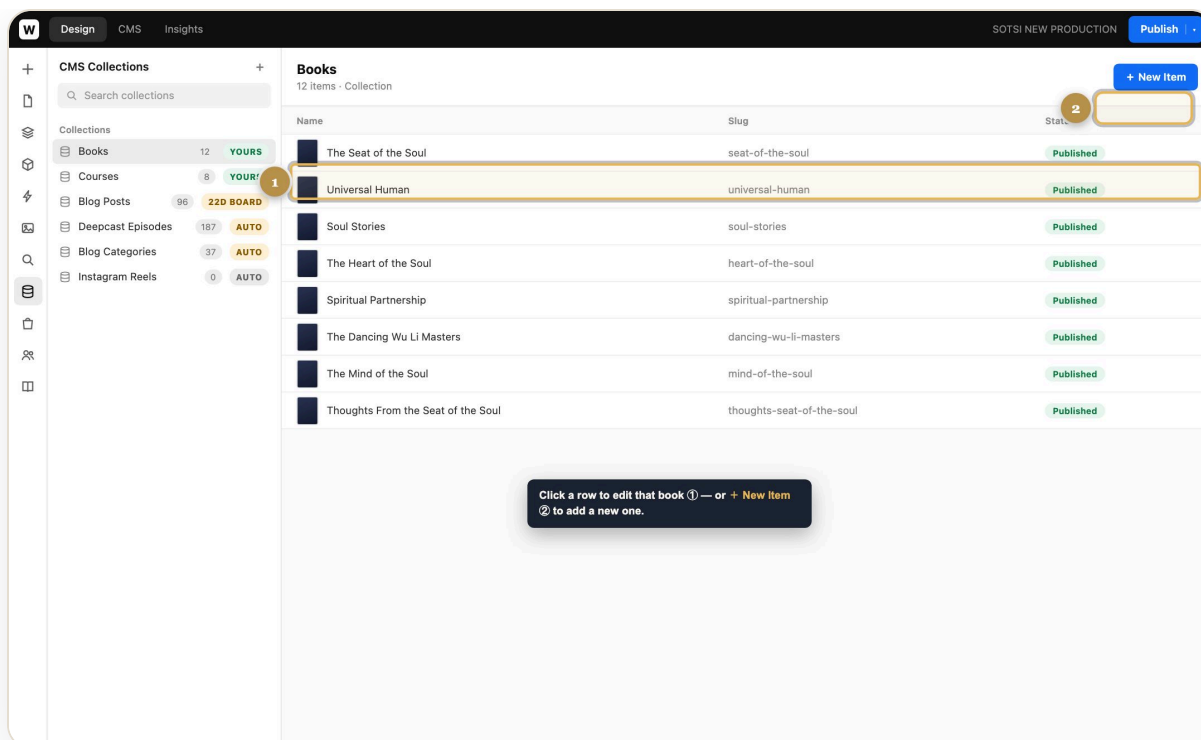

Collection = a filing cabinet (Books). Item = one card in it (one book). The page shows every card automatically — add a card and the shelf grows by itself.

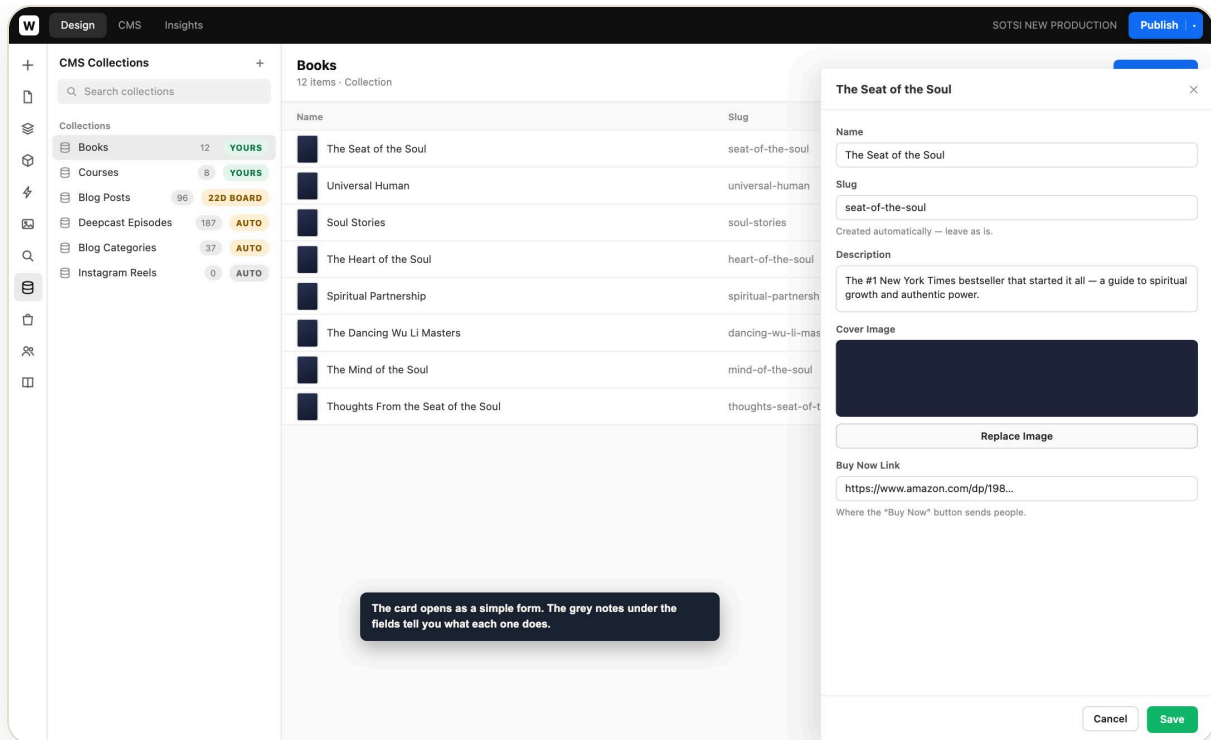

Step 1 In the Designer, click the CMS icon on the left edge (a stack of discs).

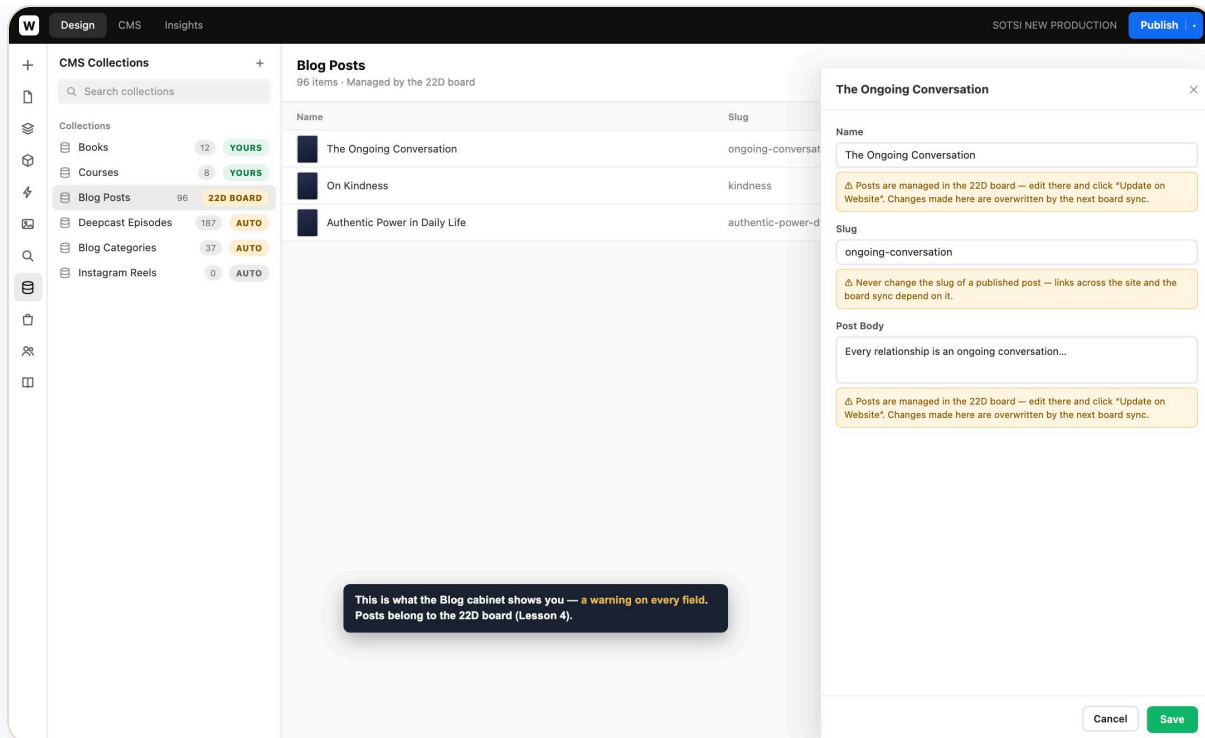

Step 2 This lists the site's cabinets. Books and Courses are YOURS. The ones marked ⚠️ (Blog Posts, Deepcast Episodes, Categories) are managed elsewhere — leave them.

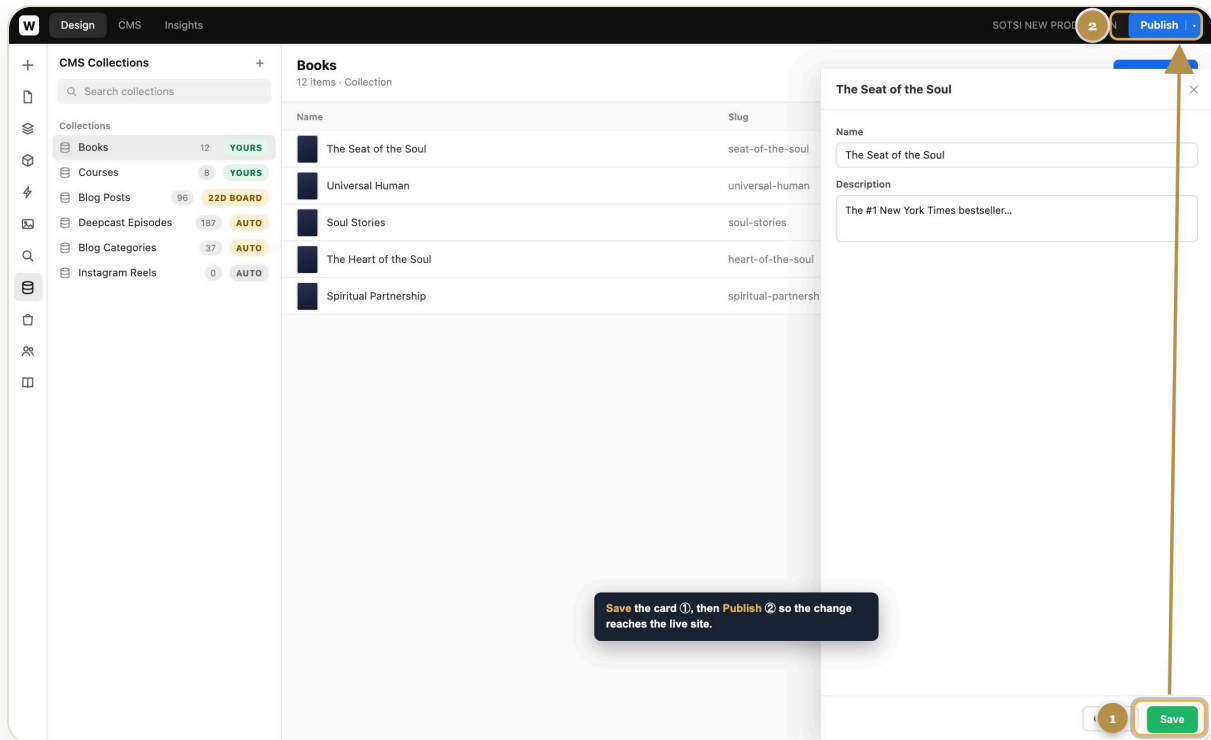

Step 3 Click Books. Every book is one row. Click a row to edit it — or the blue + New Item button to add a new book.

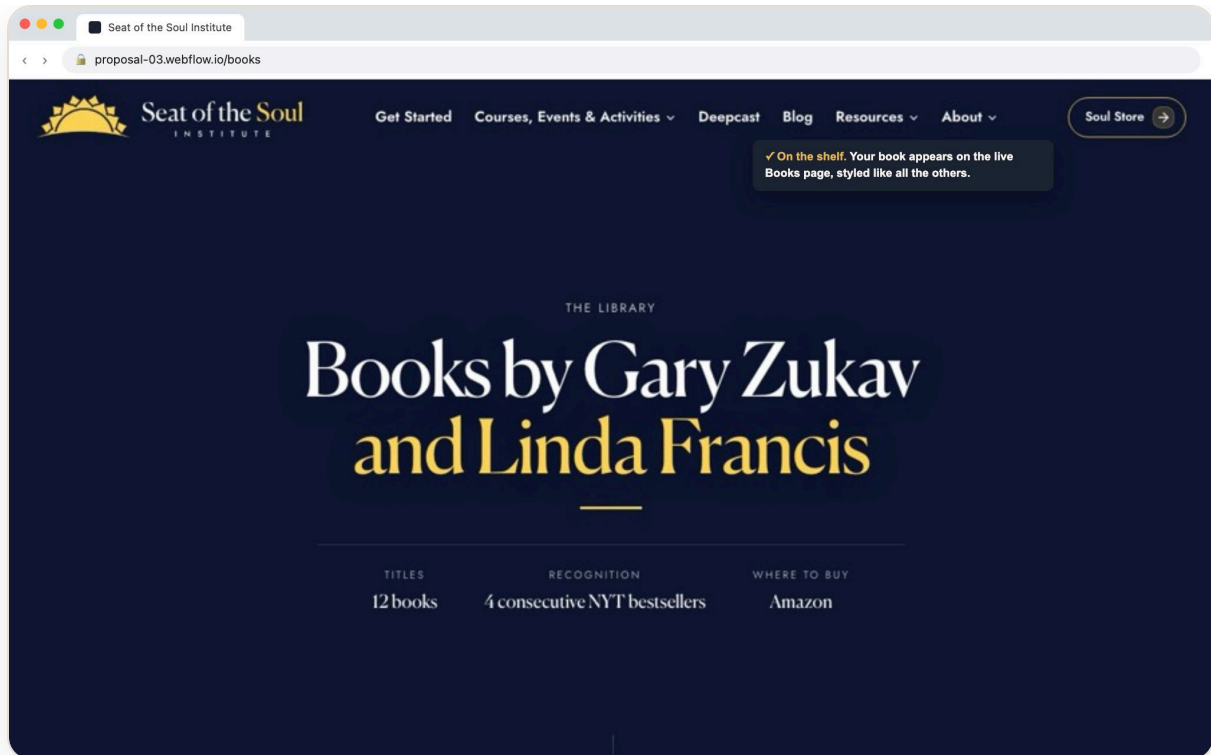

Step 4 The card opens as a simple form: Name, Description, Cover, Buy Now link... The grey notes under the fields tell you what each one does.

Step 5 This is what the Blog Posts cabinet shows you instead — a warning on every field. Posts belong to the 22D board; do not edit them here.

Step 6 Click the green Save (or Create) button, then Publish (top right) so the change reaches the live site.

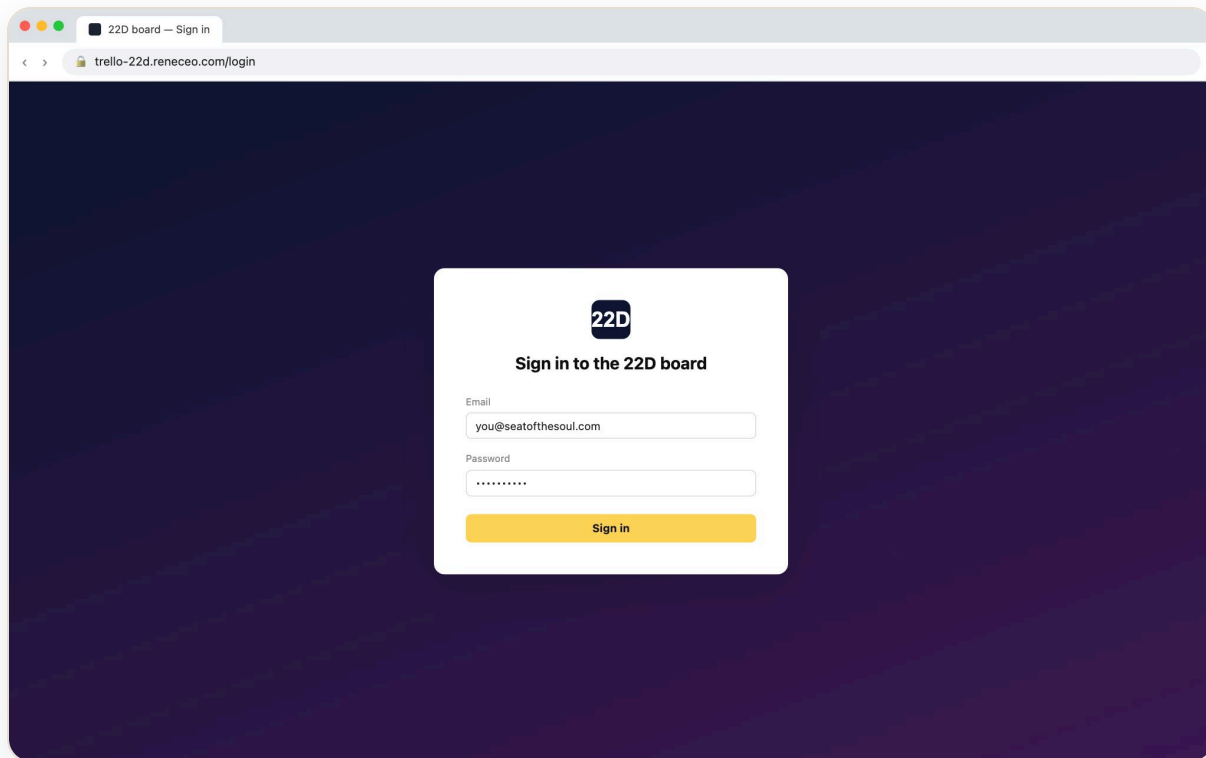

Step 7 Open the live Books page — your book is on the shelf, styled like all the others.

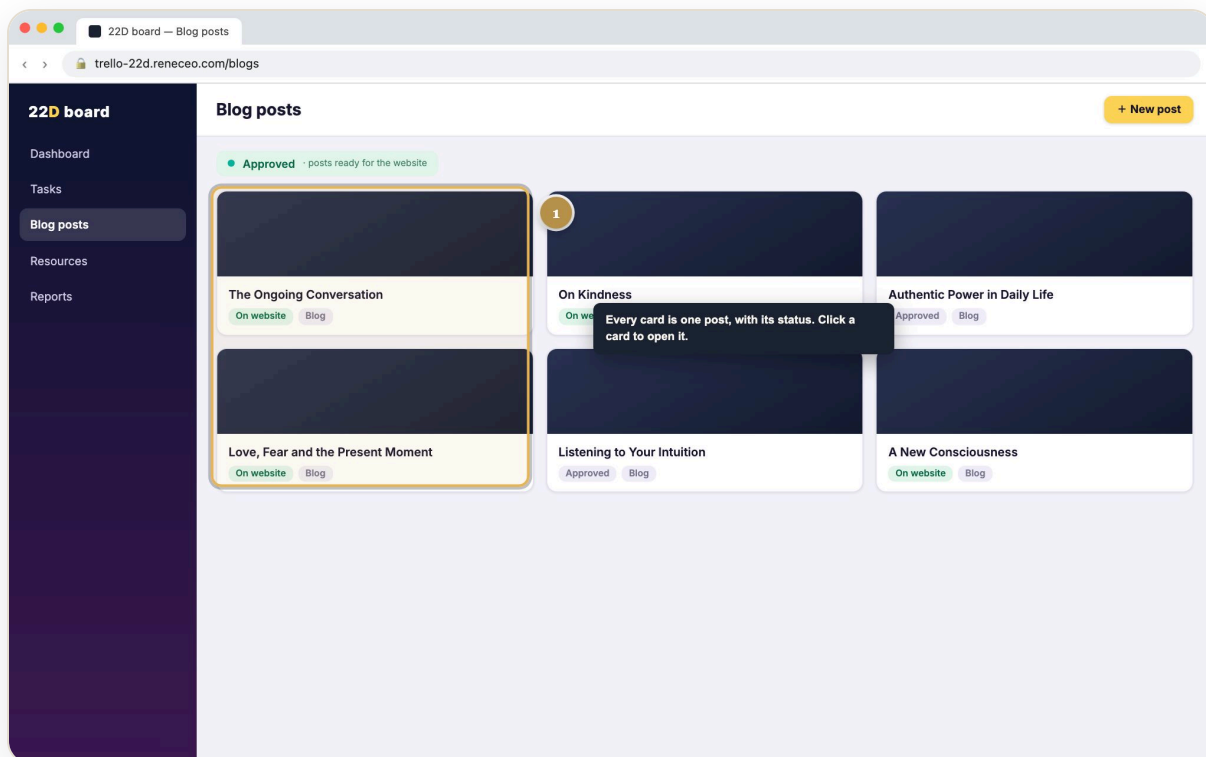

4 A blog post — written in the 22D board

22D BOARD

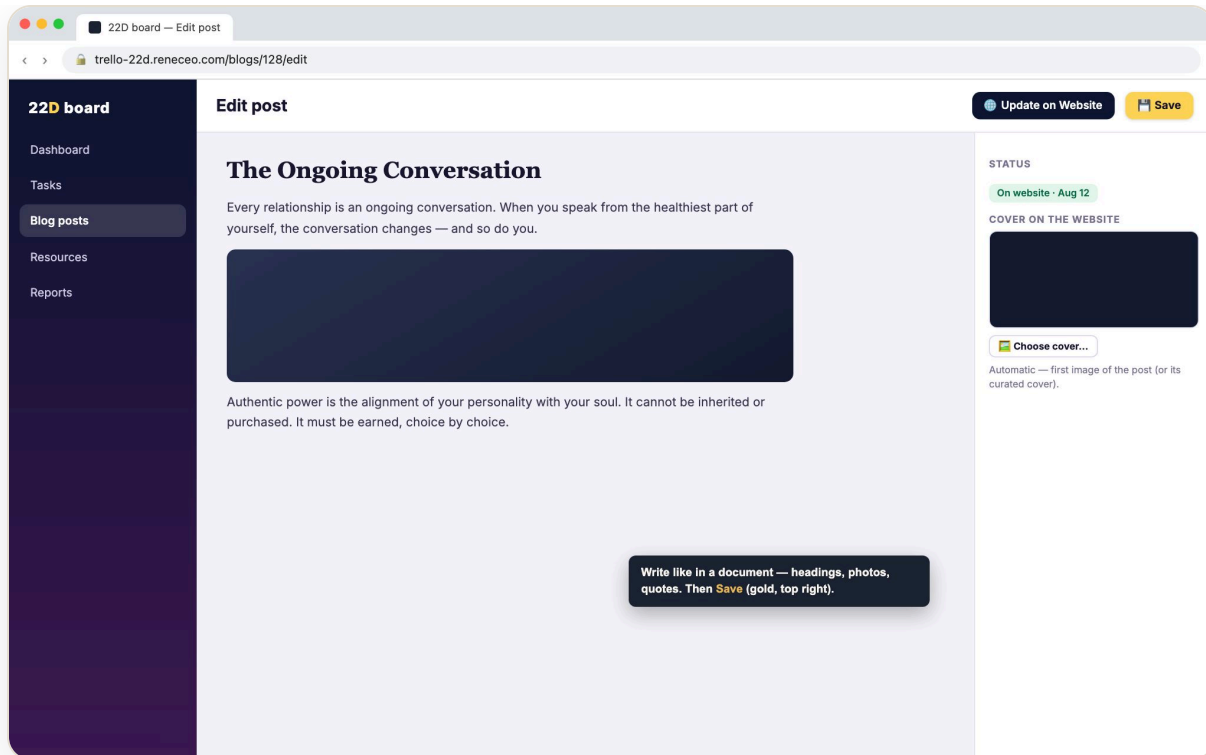

Blog posts are never written in Webflow. The 22D board is the blog's home: write there, press one button, and the website updates itself.

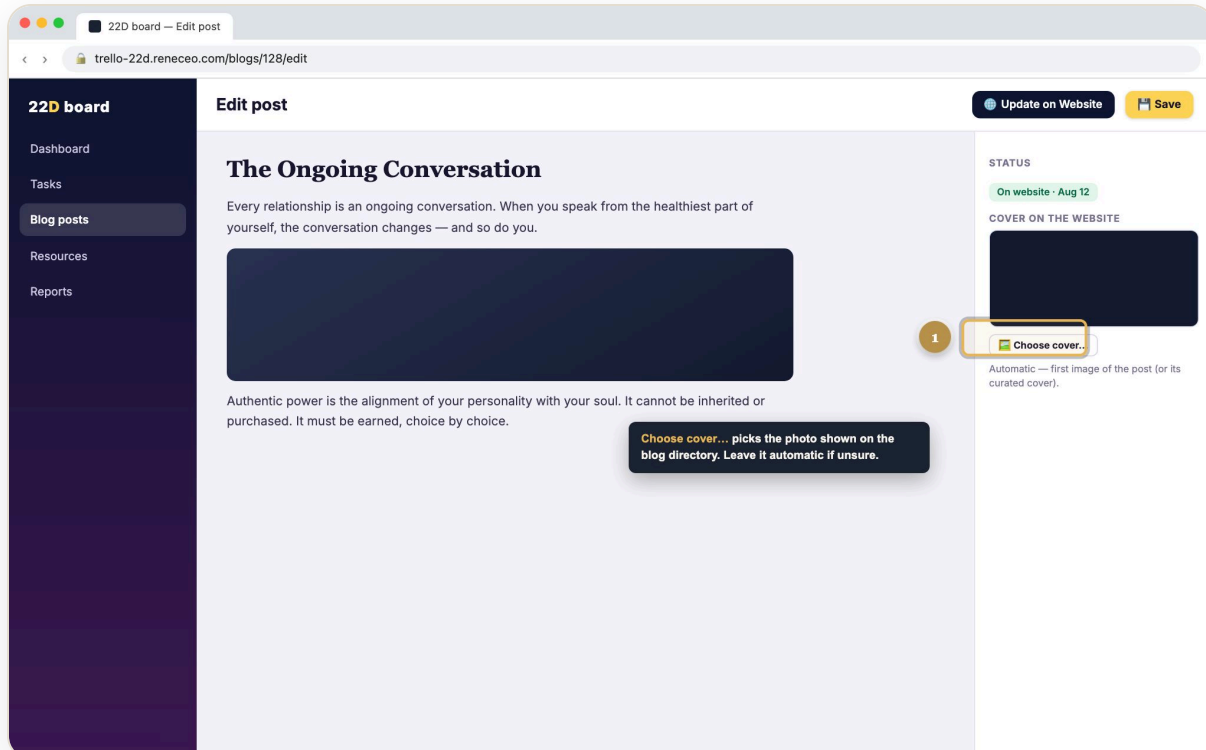

Step 1 Open the 22D board link and sign in (22D gave you the address and your login).

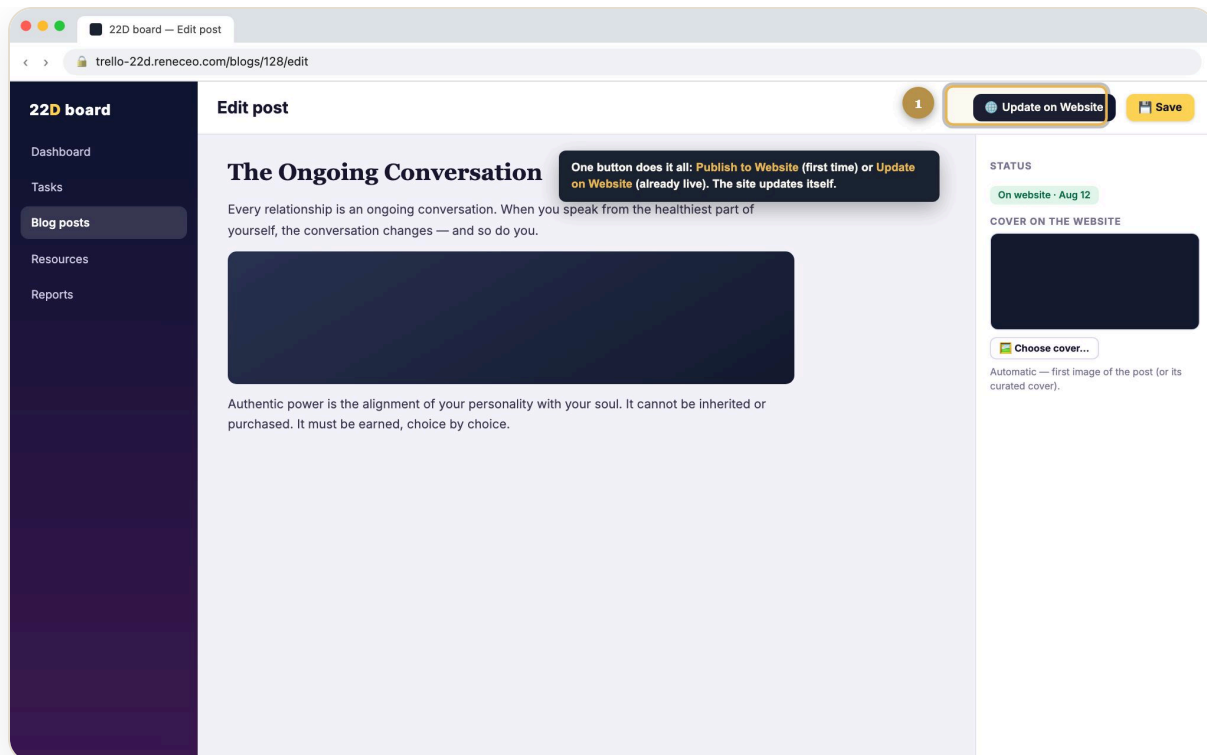

Step 2 Open Blog posts. Every card is one post, with its status.

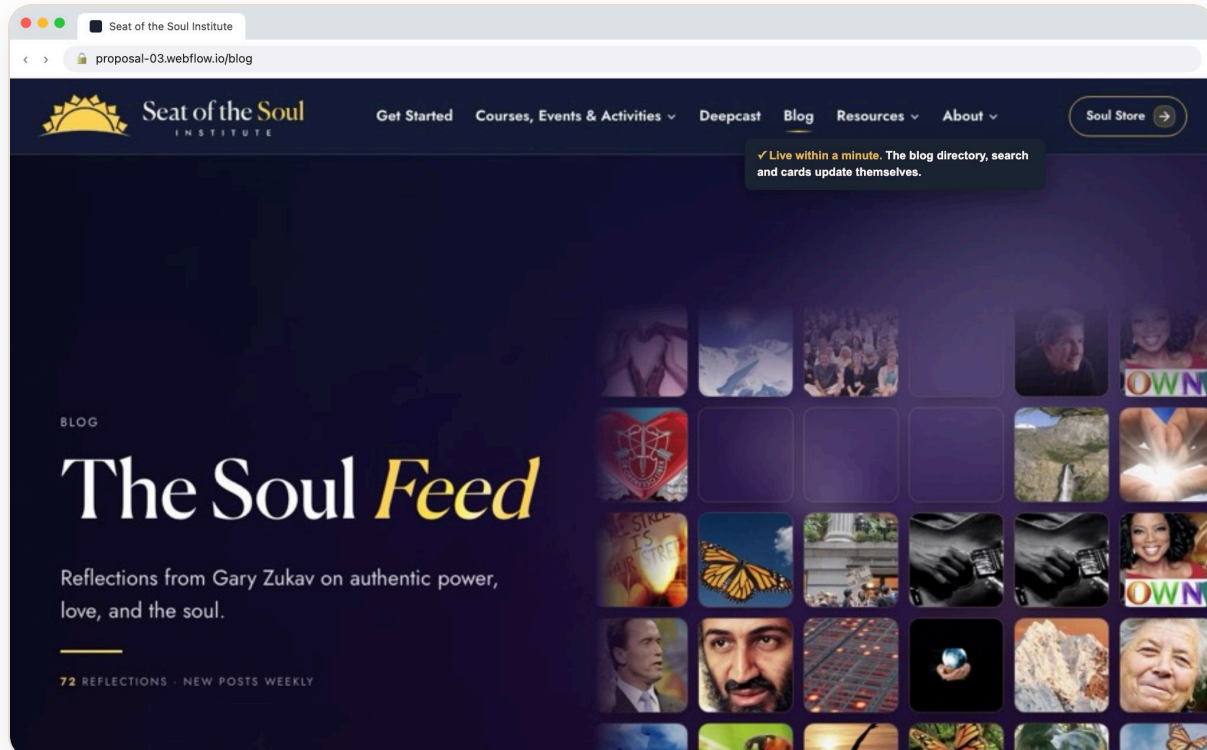

Step 3 Click a post to open the editor. Write like in a document — headings, photos, quotes. Save.

Step 5 When the post is approved, click Publish to Website (or Update on Website for a post that is already live) and confirm.

Step 6 The post appears on the live blog within a minute — directory, search and cards update themselves.

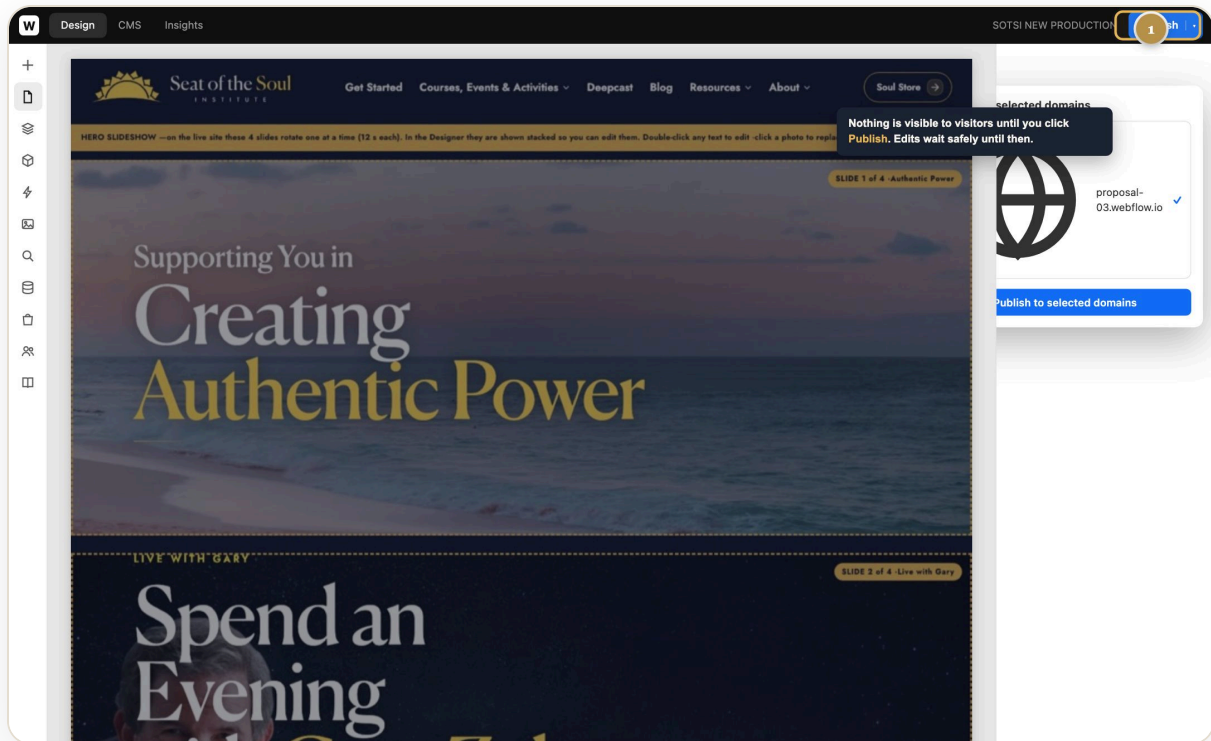

Step 7 Remember: never edit a post inside Webflow (the board overwrites it on the next sync) and never change the slug of a published post.

💡 Webflow itself reminds you — every blog field there carries a ⚠️ warning note.

5 Publish, undo & backups

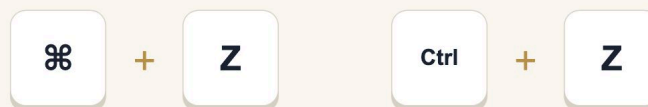

EVERYWHERE

The three safety habits: publish to make changes real, undo to step back, backups when something bigger goes wrong.

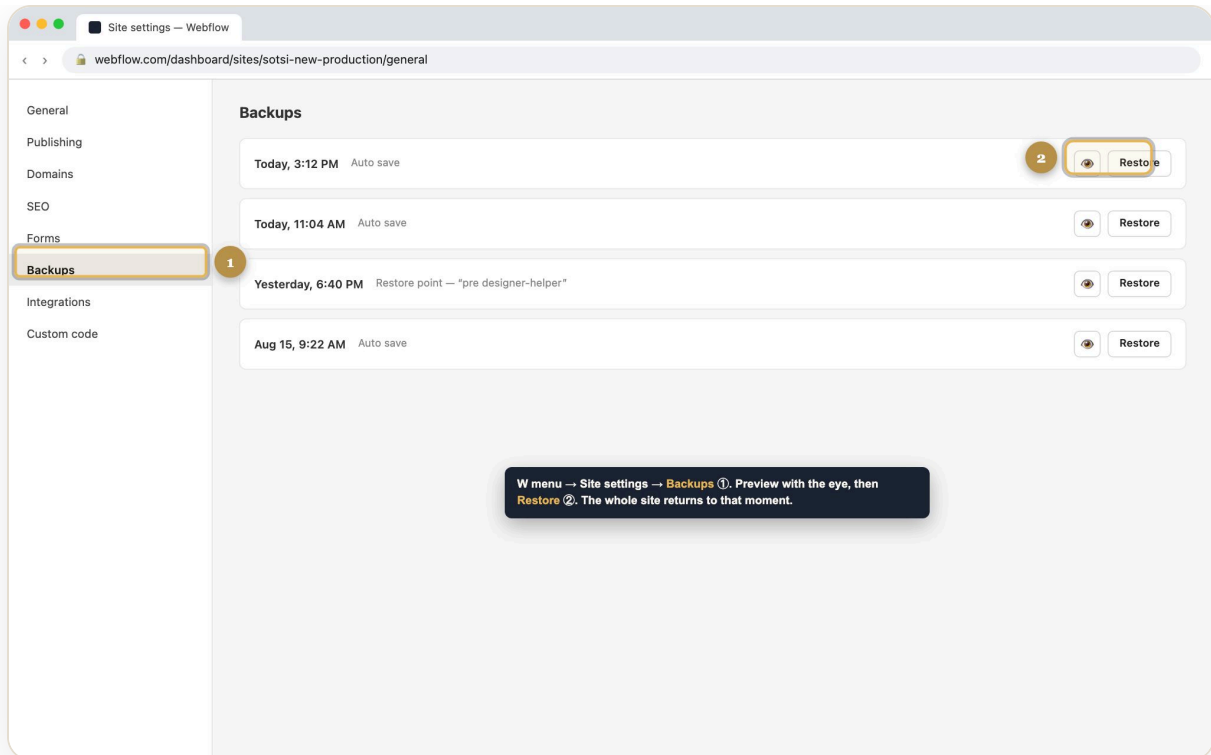

Step 1 Publish (top right, in the Designer and in Edit mode) sends your saved edits to the live site. Until then, visitors see nothing new.

Undo — your best friend

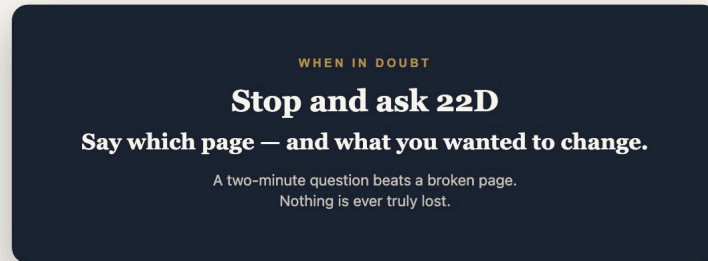

Mac on the left, Windows on the right. Press it repeatedly — each press steps one edit backwards.

Step 2 Small mistake? Press Cmd+Z (Mac) or Ctrl+Z (Windows), repeatedly if needed. It steps backwards through your edits.

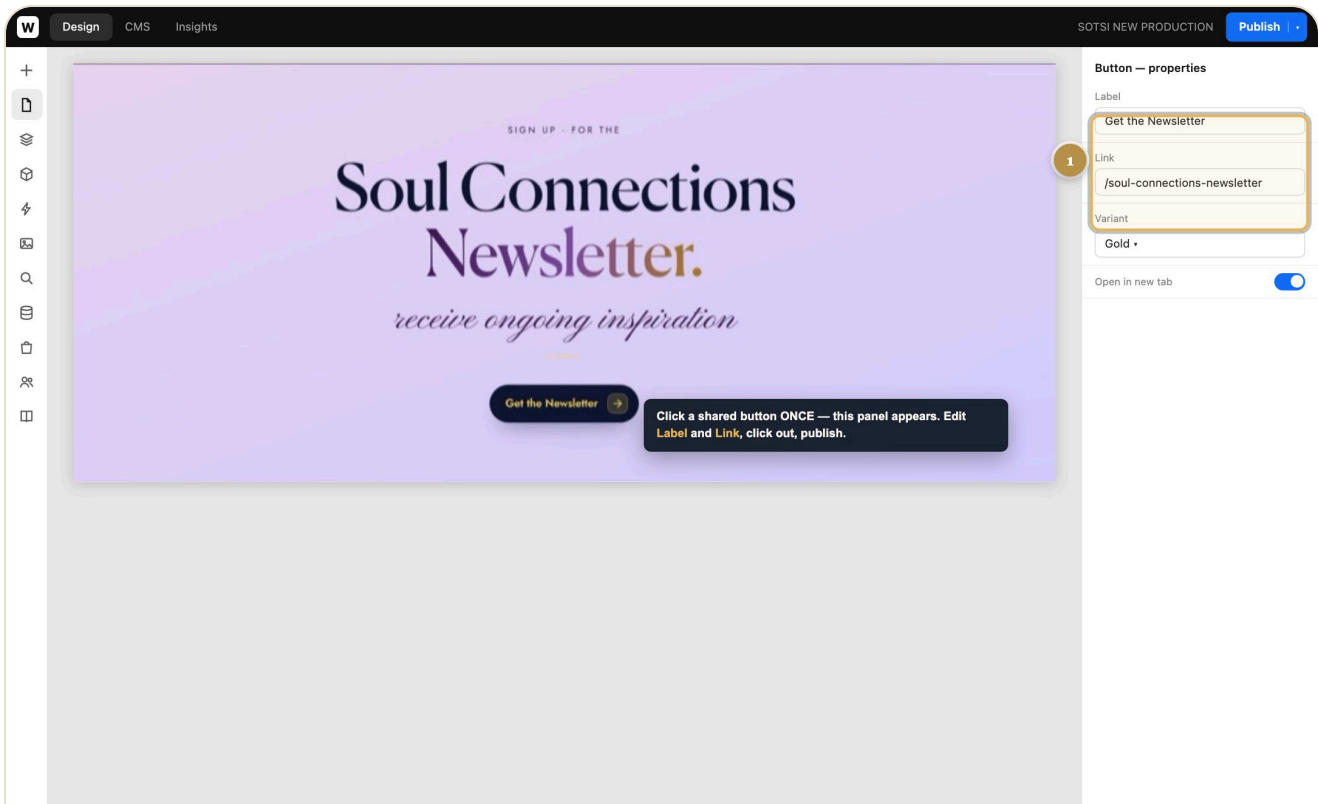

Step 3 Bigger accident? Click the W menu (top left) → Site settings → Backups. Preview a backup with the eye icon, then Restore. The whole site returns to that moment.

Step 4 Not sure what happened? Stop and ask 22D — say which page and what you wanted to change. A two-minute question beats a broken page.

The special parts, one example each

Most of the site repeats the lessons above. These are the only parts that work differently.

A button's label or destination EASY

Most buttons on the site are shared components — they open a small Properties panel instead of direct editing.

1. Click the button ONCE. If a panel appears on the right with Label and Link fields — edit them there. Done.
2. No panel? It's a plain link: double-click to edit the text; change the destination with the link (chain) icon in Settings.
3. For links to other websites, keep "Open in new tab" on. Publish and test the button live.

Navbar & Footer — one change, every page CAREFUL

The top navigation and the footer are ONE component reused on every page. Edit once — it changes site-wide. Usually that's exactly what you want.

1. Double-click the navbar (or footer) to step inside the component.
2. Menu links and footer buttons work like any text/button (Lesson 1, recipe above).

3. Don't add or remove menu items and don't touch the grey  blocks inside (menu behaviour, search box) — ask 22D.
4. Publish once; every page updates.

PERSPECTIVE

What To Do
About
Failing Governments?

Social structures are crumbling. The old consciousness is dying.

The Home hero slideshow (4 slides) CAREFUL

On the live site the 4 slides rotate every 12 seconds. In the Designer they are stacked on purpose, each with an orange “SLIDE N of 4” label, so you can edit each one.

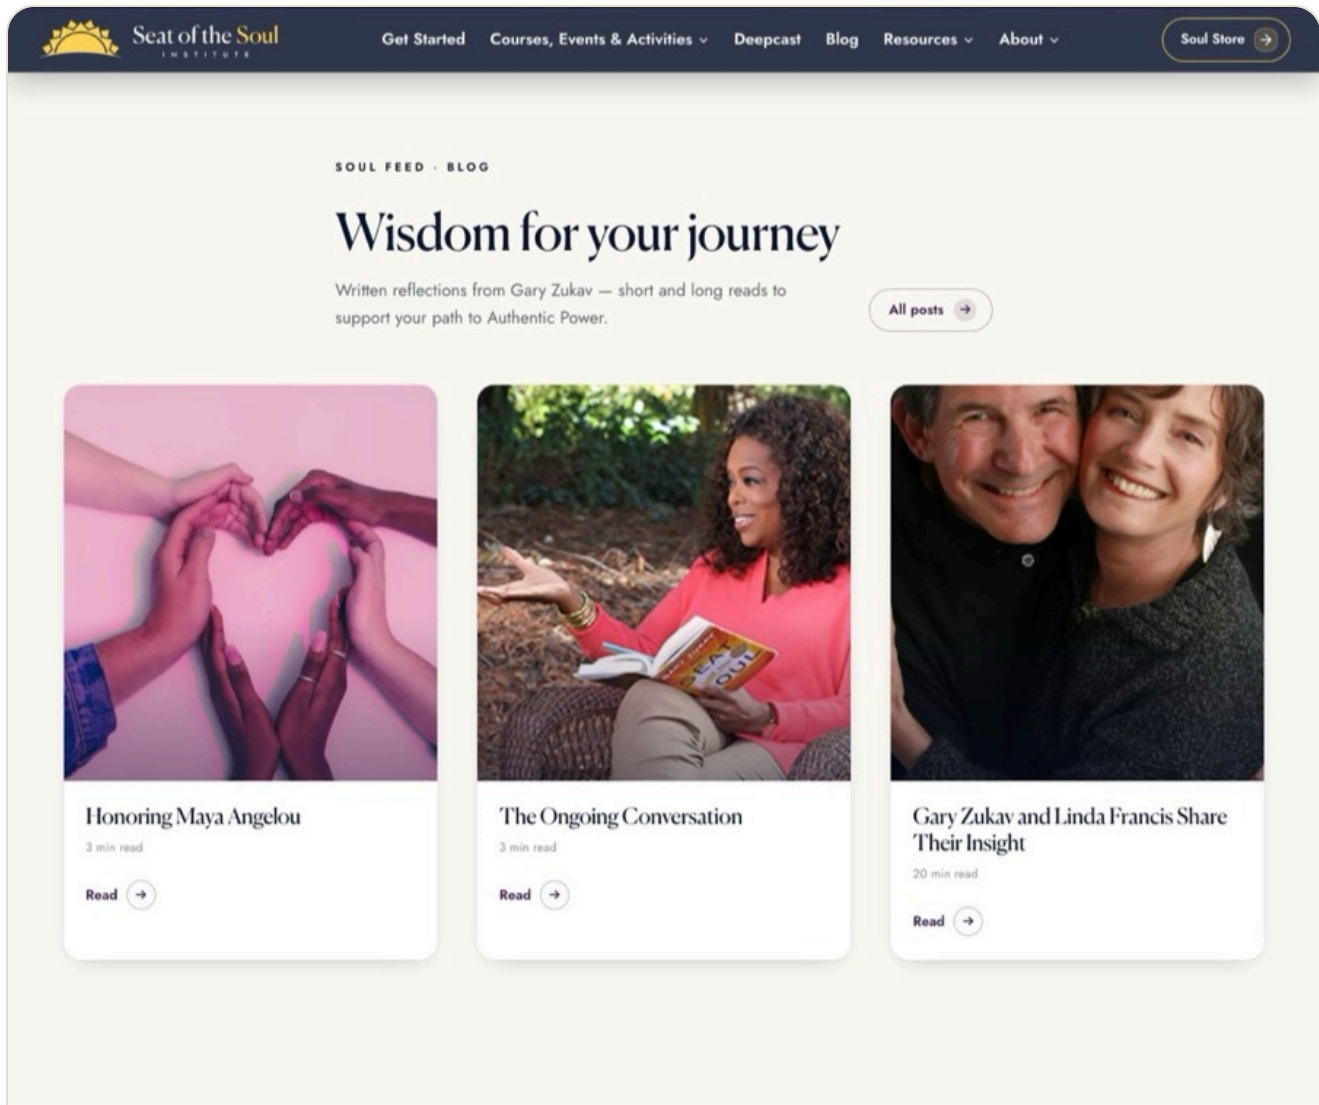

1. Texts: double-click any title, kicker or line inside a slide and type. Keep gold words inside their gold highlight.
2. Buttons: click once → Properties (Label + Link). Slide 1’s buttons are hidden by design — leave them hidden.
3. Photos: each slide’s photo has separate phone/tablet crops. Send new hero photos to 22D — we set all sizes so faces stay framed.
4. Publish, then watch the live hero rotate through all four slides.

The impact numbers (they count up) CAREFUL

Each stat animates from 0 up to a value stored in a hidden attribute called data-count. The visible number AND the attribute must match.

1. Double-click the number on the canvas and type the new value.
2. With the number still selected, press D → scroll to Custom attributes → set data-count to the same value (data-suffix holds things like "M+").
3. Publish and watch the live count-up.
4. Feels fiddly? Tell 22D the new number — it's a 10-second fix on our side.

Hand-picked rows (Home practices & Soul Feed) CAREFUL

The 4 practice cards and the 3 Soul Feed posts on Home are pinned selections — they do not update by themselves, on purpose.

1. The row's heading and intro text are yours — edit like any text.
2. The cards' content lives in the CMS (practices) or the 22D board (posts). Edit the item, not the card.
3. Want DIFFERENT items featured? Tell 22D which ones — swapping the pinned set is our job.

Forms (newsletter, downloads, waitlist) LEAVE ALONE

Every form feeds the email system (ActiveCampaign). The texts around a form are yours; the form itself is wired.

1. Headings, paragraphs, button labels near a form: edit freely (Lesson 1).
2. Never rename, add or delete form FIELDS, and never delete a form — sign-ups would silently stop arriving.
3. Need a new field or a new form? That's a 22D task — just ask.

When something looks wrong

A page looks empty, grey, or 'broken' in the Designer.

Expected. The dashed AUTO boxes (blog directory, episodes, search, videos, waves) are filled by code on the live site only. See "Why the Designer looks different".

I edited a blog post in Webflow and it reverted.

Blog posts are managed in the 22D board; the next sync overwrites Webflow edits. Make the change in the board and click "Update on Website".

My change doesn't show on the live site.

Did you click Publish? If yes, hard-refresh the live page (Cmd/Ctrl+Shift+R). If still missing, publish once more — it occasionally needs a second try.

I deleted something by accident.

Cmd/Ctrl+Z immediately. If it's too late, Site settings → Backups → preview → Restore.

A form, video or feed stopped working after my edit.

You may have touched a  element. Undo your change and tell 22D what happened — restoring is quick.

Known quirks

- On phones and tablets, the cookie banner covers the hero slide dots until the visitor accepts or declines it.
- The video on “In Celebration of Linda Francis” is blocked on the staging domain (Vimeo whitelist) — it will work on the final domain.
- The Designer’s Preview (eye icon) does not load this site’s effects either — the hero looks stacked/overlapping there. That’s expected; judge on the published site.

Eight Components

Designer — Webflow’s full editing app — canvas in the middle, panels on the sides.

Navigator — The tree of every element on the page (press Z). All elements are labelled  /  /  for you.

Edit mode (?update) — A safe, content-only editing view of the live site. Add ?update to any page address.

Component — A reusable block (Navbar, Footer, Buttons). Editing the component changes every copy of it.

CMS / Collection — The site's content database (Books, Courses, Blog Posts...). Items are edited as forms in the CMS panel.

Slug — The last part of a URL (.../blog/kindness → "kindness"). Never change it on published content.

Publish — The button that pushes your saved changes to the live site.

Alt text — A one-line description of an image, read by screen readers and Google.
